

KPVI

Atlantic Broadband partners with officials to extend internet

Engadget

TikTok limits the visibility of teens' videos amid safety push

TechCrunch

Reddit is raising up to \$700M in Series F funding

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

Pa. Senate to put expenses online for the public to see how senators are spending money

Torrent Freak

Netflix Intensifies 'VPN Ban' and Targets Residential IP-addresses Too \(Updated\)

The Verge

Facebook is rebuilding its ads to know a lot less about you

Ars Technica

Leaked voting machine BIOS passwords may implicate Q-friendly county clerk

6ABC

Philadelphia imposes new mask mandate to combat rise in COVID cases

The Philadelphia Inquirer

Biden's infrastructure bill gave us a preview of a key clash in Pa.'s 2022 Senate race. Here's what we learned.

The Washington Post

Marginalized streamers beg Twitch to 'do better' in the wake of hate raids, poor pay

During an Aug. 6 broadcast, the Twitch streamer RekItRaven — who is Black and uses they/them pronouns — emotionally described a series of traumatic, real-life experiences that informed who they are today. In response, viewers in chat told Raven that they were “loved.” This made what happened next especially hurtful. About 20 minutes later, Raven’s chat was suddenly flooded by dozens of users spamming the same message, which read in part: “This channel now belongs to the KKK.” It was the second time that had happened in just one week.

READ MORE

